

Sharing for the Greater Good:

Outreach and collaboration from the perspective of community-based archives

Society of American Archivists 2009 Research Forum

Audra Eagle
Forsyth County Public Library
Winston-Salem, North Carolina

FORSYTH COUNTY, NORTH CAROLINA
DIGITALFORSYTH

FORSYTH COUNTY, NORTH CAROLINA
DIGITALFORSYTH

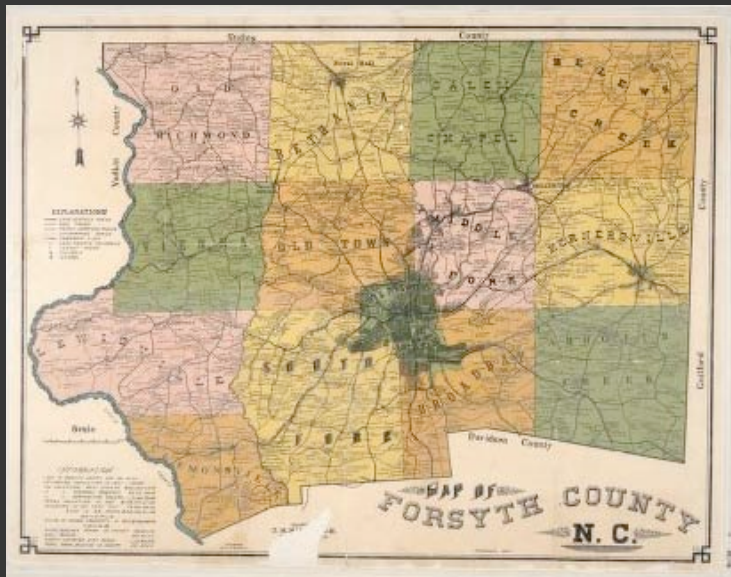

FORSYTH COUNTY, NORTH CAROLINA
DIGITALFORSYTH

FORSYTH COUNTY, NORTH CAROLINA
DIGITALFORSYTH

TURNER & CO.'S
Winston-Salem
CITY DIRECTORY,
—FOR THE YEARS—
1889 AND 1890.
CONTAINED &

MAP OF FORSYTH COUNTY
N. C.

/cdla
CAROLINA DIGITAL LIBRARY AND ARCHIVES

“The ubiquitous vision of a collections assets are oversees

Diane Zorich, Gü
Collaboration Am

ires a e the onal unit

ilos of the LAMs:

A preliminary framework

Partners in Preservation: The CEF Framework

Collaboration Continuum

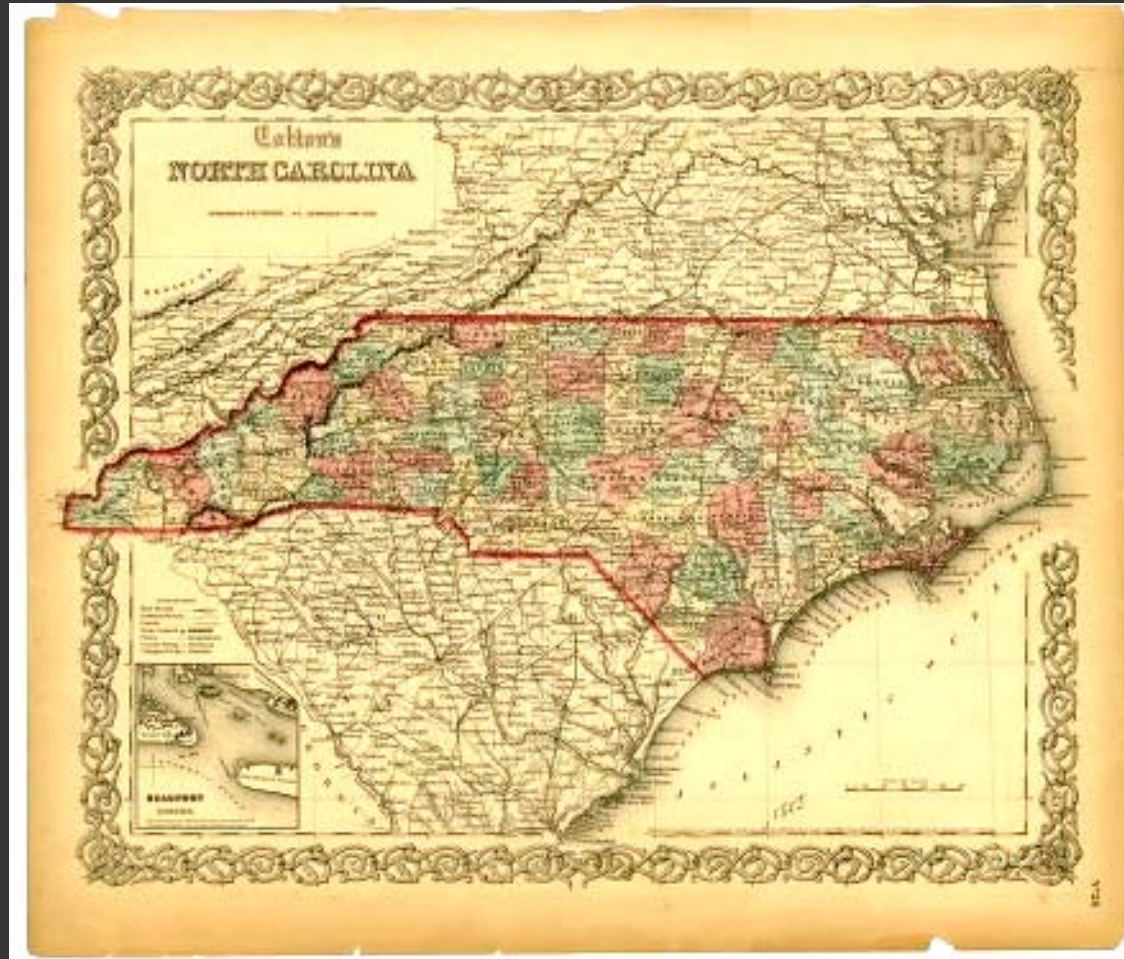

Contact: relationship building

FORSYTH COUNTY, NORTH CAROLINA
DIGITALFORSYTH

Toward transformative practice

“[A] people cannot truly be masters of their own history and understand their identity unless they have access to their records.”

Jeannette Bastian, Owning Memory: How a Caribbean Community Lost Its Archives and Found Its History, 84.