SEARCH COMMITTEE TO INTERVIEW APPLICANTS FOR EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR'S POSITION

Philip P. Mason, chairman of the ad hoc committee charged with seeking candidates for the position of executive director, reports as follows:

In April 1973, President Wilfred I. Smith appointed an ad hoc committee to implement some of the recommendations of the Committee for the 1970's. The committee's members are Philip P. Mason, chairman; Howard L. Applegate, Lynn B. Donovan, John M. Kinney, Mary Lynn McCree, and Edward Weldon.

The committee was charged to: locate a sponsoring institution for the SAA secretariat by July 1974;
analyze the financial resources of the SAA to determine the funds available for the salary of an executive director;
estimate the additional revenue which must be raised by an increase in dues; locate potential candidates for the position of executive director.

The committee plans to complete its deliberations in the spring of 1974 and to report its findings to the SAA Council in April. The committee's recommendations will be influenced by the action of the membership on the proposed dues increase at the annual meeting in 1973; by anticipated revenue if a new dues structure is approved; and by other funds which the SAA may raise.

The committee has proceeded on the assumption that sufficient funds will be raised and that an executive director can be hired by the Council in 1974. Although the salary for the executive director cannot be determined at this time, the committee believes that it will be in the range of $13,000-$16,000 or $16,000-$22,000, including fringe benefits.

The committee has established the following qualifications for the position of executive director: A graduate degree, preferably in history or one of the social sciences; at least five years of successively more responsible experience as a practicing archivist, preferably in a major institution; a demonstrated commitment to the profession; a previously held position that included major administrative responsibilities; and the ability to meet the public in a confident fashion, to be an effective speaker, and to write well.

The committee welcomes applications and recommendations from SAA members. Members of the committee will be available to interview applicants and to discuss the position at the annual meeting in St. Louis, 25-28 September 1973. Please contact the chairman, either by mail or upon arrival at the meeting, for an appointment.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OFFERS ALTERNATIVE TO PROPOSED GRADUATED SYSTEM OF DUES

Following is a message from President Wilfred I. Smith to the membership:

You will recall that at the last general business meeting in November 1972, the members present amended the constitution to provide for an executive director for the Society. Recognizing that an increase in dues would be necessary in order to pay the salary of a full-time director, the Council tentatively approved a graduated dues schedule based on the individual member's annual salary. The Council published the proposed schedule in the June, 1973 edition of the SAA Newsletter and asked for comments from the membership. On behalf of the Council, I wish to thank all of you who have expressed an opinion to us on the matter.

One month ago, the Society's Executive Committee met to review your comments on the graduated schedule; to discuss the experiences of other professional organizations which have recently raised their dues; and to estimate the revenue from different types of assessments. The Executive Committee concluded that it might be more advantageous to retain the present schedule, raising the dues in each membership category by $5.00, than to establish a graduated dues schedule. The committee calculated that the revenue produced by a flat $5.00 increase in dues would equal, if not surpass, the income produced by a graduated dues schedule. The present system would be easier to administer than the graduated system, inasmuch as there would be fewer membership categories to deal with. Future revenue could be more precisely determined on the basis of the present membership categories than on the basis of members' annual salaries. Finally, losses in membership resulting from the rise in dues would probably be minimized by the adoption of a general $5.00 increase.

The Executive Committee has asked the Council to consider a flat $5.00 increase in dues as an alternative to the graduated scale. The Council will make its decision at a meeting on 25 September 1973 and will present its proposal to the membership at the general business meeting in St. Louis on 27 September 1973. In the meantime, I hope that you will continue to send your comments to the SAA administrative office, so that the action finally taken may reflect as accurately as possible the view of our members at large.

SAA ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICE CHANGES LOCATION AND PERSONNEL

The Society's administrative office will move at the end of this month to the Bentley Historical Library of the University of Michigan. In the process of completion at a cost of $1.2 million, the library will hold the 14.5 million manuscript items, 30,000 books, and 200,000 photographs of the Michigan Historical Collections. It is named in honor of the late U.S. Congressman Alvin M. Bentley, who combined a career in public service from 1942 to 1969 with an abiding interest in the preservation of documents for historical research. A gift of Mr. Bentley's widow, Arvella D. Bentley, together with other substantial donations, made construction of the library possible.

Robert M. Warner, director of the Michigan Historical Collections, will resign at the end of this month as executive director of the SAA after two years of voluntary service in that capacity. The Council has appointed his assistant, Judith A. Koucky, as acting secretary. She will manage the Society's daily business until mid-1974, when the Council expects to have engaged a full-time, salaried executive director.

All communications to the administrative office should henceforth be addressed to: Judith A. Koucky, SAA Acting Secretary, Bentley Historical Library, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Michigan 48103.
