NEW HOUSTON ARCHIVES AND RESEARCH CENTER IS SAA TO BE REPRESENTED ON NHPRC BY HAROLD M. HYMAN'S LUNCHEON TOPIC: APRIL 18

The achievements and frustrations of the first year of the $400,000 project he initiated, the Houston Metropolitan Archives and Research Center, will be discussed by Harold M. Hyman, William P. Hobby Professor of History at Rice University, April 18 in Boston at a luncheon sponsored by the SAA and the New England Archivists, Inc. Held in conjunction with the annual meeting of the Organization of American Historians, the event will take place at the Statler Hilton Hotel where tickets will be available from OAH on April 17.

The Houston program's components and design, developed by Hyman over the past five years, reflect his concern that oral and documentary source materials on the history of American cities be preserved and made available to scholars. Financial support for the two year pilot effort has come from Houston library and university institutions, private contributors and a $116,000 grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

According to the project's executive director, James B. Speer, Jr., operations which are now housed in Rice's Fondren Library will eventually move to Houston's renovated public library where a comprehensive computer-indexed catalog of all discoverable printed and manuscript materials on the history of Houston and surrounding areas will be available to researchers. The building will also house an archives for the records of local institutions, private associations, corporations, and individual donors, the non-current records of city and county agencies, as well as an oral history project to preserve the recollections of public officials and prominent Houstonians.

On December 22 the President signed H.R. 15818 (P.L. 93-536), an act to strengthen and enlarge the scope of the activities of the National Historical Publications Commission so as to enable it to undertake projects relating to the collection and preservation of historical records of the United States, including those of state and local governments. NHPC was redesignated the National Historical Publications and Records Commission and the annual appropriation authorization was raised from $2,000,000 to $4,000,000. The membership of the present commission was enlarged to include two representatives of the Society and two representatives of the American Association for State and Local History. President James B. Rhoads has appointed Charles E. Lee, Director, South Carolina Department of Archives and History, and Mary Lynn McCree, Curator of Jane Addams' Hull House, University of Illinois at Chicago Circle, as the SAA representatives.

The President signed the measure too late for the additional authorized $2,000,000 to be included in the administration's FY 76 budget request for the General Services Administration (the agency through which NHPRC is funded). It is possible for the additional funding to be added to the budget when GSA's request is considered by the appropriations committees of the House and Senate. Representative Tom Steed of Oklahoma and Senator Joseph M. Montoya of New Mexico serve as chairmen of the respective appropriations subcommittees on Treasury, Postal Service and General Government.
NEW ARCHIVAL EDUCATION PROGRAMS ANNOUNCED BY CASE WESTERN RESERVE UNIVERSITY, UNIVERSITY OF HAWAII AT MANOA, AND CLARK UNIVERSITY

A joint venture of the School of Library Science and the Departments of History and American Studies has been announced by Case Western Reserve University. The innovative approach to the training of archivists involves a program of study culminating in the award of two masters degrees—in history/American studies and library science. The combined program requires seventeen courses (48 hours) and can be taken in a minimum of 18 months, covering three semesters plus one summer session. Of the 48 hours, 18 are in library science, 12 in archival administration and 18 in history/American studies. The total program will draw upon the resources of the School of Library Science, the Departments of History and American Studies, the University Archives and the Western Reserve Historical Society. In addition to the formal course work, practical experience will be provided in the form of practicum courses.

Case Western Reserve has also announced an expansion of its summer workshop on college and university archives. This year, a choice of workshops is scheduled in the period June 8-13: a new advanced program for practicing archivists, as well as the traditional introductory workshop. The advanced group will cover selected topics in depth, working with recognized experts in each field. Responsible experience is required for registration in this program. The introductory workshop is planned for individuals new to the field, for librarians who have been assigned to develop archival programs or for administrators concerned with records problems. For information about either the degree or workshop program contact Ruth W. Helmuth, University Archivist, Case Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio 44106.

A course in the administration of archives and manuscripts will be taught at Clark University, Worcester, Massachusetts, beginning April 26. Both students and persons presently employed in archival positions are eligible to enroll for the class which will be offered for academic credit by the University's extension division. Sessions will be held on Saturday mornings, some at the University and others at the American Antiquarian Society. Contact William Joyce, Curator of Manuscripts, American Antiquarian Society, Worcester, Massachusetts 01609. Mr. Joyce serves as coordinator of the course.

The Graduate School of Library Studies, University of Hawaii at Manoa, has scheduled an archives training program for its summer session, July 7-August 15. The program is directed by Morris Rieger, former assistant to the Archivist of the United States for international relations. The program includes two parts: Fundamentals of Archives Administration, July 7-25, and a second session offered July 28-August 15 entitled Retirement and Appraisal of Records. In both sessions students will undertake practical exercises at the Hawaii State Archives. Students may enroll for either or both courses, each of which carries three graduate credit hours. Contact Robert D. Stevens, Dean, Graduate School of Library Studies, University of Hawaii, Honolulu, Hawaii 96822.

SAA PUBLICATIONS SALES OFFICE MOVED TO CHICAGO NATIONAL HEADQUARTERS

The SAA Council, meeting in Chicago in January, approved the appointment of C. F. W. Coker as editor of the American Archivist. Fred Coker, former Archives and Records Administrator of the State of North Carolina, serves as Chief of the Printed Documents Division of the National Archives and Records Service.

Edward Weldon, who had served as the Society's editor since 1972, left his position as chief of the Editorial Branch of the National Archives and Records Service in January to become Archivist of New York State.

All publications orders should now be addressed to: SAA Publications Sales, P.O. Box 8198, The Library, University of Illinois at Chicago Circle, Chicago, Illinois 60680.
TECHNOLOGICAL USES OF COPYRIGHTED WORKS
SUBJECT OF NEW STUDY COMMISSION

Although the act providing for general revision of the copyright law failed to pass both houses of Congress in 1974, a measure was approved which authorized a National Commission on the New Technological Uses of Copyrighted Works. The Commission, to be included in the Library of Congress, provides a vehicle for an in-depth study of some of the most vexing problems of modern copyright law: the impact of automated information storage, processing, and retrieval systems, and reprographic reproduction systems upon the author's copyright.

EVANS' SELECT BIBLIOGRAPHY TO BE PUBLISHED BY THE SOCIETY

The revision of Frank B. Evans' The Administration of Modern Archives: A Select Bibliographic Guide, first published in 1970, will be available from the SAA Publications Sales Office within the next few months. Entitled Modern Archives and Manuscripts: A Select Bibliographic Guide, the massive work has undergone changes in format and includes additional entries for the period through December 1973. New chapters are also included on machine-readable records and archives, and three chapters on international aspects of archives. Additional subheadings have been added to chapters, and a system of decimal numbering has been adopted for the subheadings to facilitate revisions and indexing. The subject index of the first edition has been expanded and a new and separate author index (limited to personal names of authors, compilers, editors and translators) has been added.

Frank Evans, who recently assumed the position of Regional Commissioner for NARS in Region 3, is now in the process of completing a companion volume, The History of Archives Administration: A Select Bibliography, for future publication. Both works are by-products of Evans' courses in Archives Administration at the American University and his activities in directing archival training and institutes for NARS during the past decade.

HERMAN KAHN APPOINTED SAA MEMBER OF PUBLIC DOCUMENTS COMMISSION

SAA President James B. Rhoads has appointed Herman Kahn, associate librarian for manuscripts and archives at Yale University and former director of the Roosevelt Library, as the Society's representative on the Public Documents Commission. The seventeen member commission, the creation of which was endorsed by SAA's 1974 annual business meeting, is to study problems and questions with respect to control, disposition, and preservation of records and documents of federal officials. The study is required to include consideration of (1) whether the historical practice with respect to Presidential records and documents should be rejected or accepted, and whether such practice should be made applicable with respect to all federal officials; (2) the relationship of findings of the commission to the depository library program and the statutes relating to archival administration; (3) whether the findings of the Commission should affect control, disposition, and preservation of records and documents of agencies within the Executive Office of the President created for short-term purposes; (4) the record-keeping procedures of the White House Office; (5) rules which should apply to control, disposition, and preservation of records and documents of Presidential task forces, commissions and boards; (6) criteria for determining the scope of materials which should be considered the records and documents of members of congress; (7) the privacy interests of individuals who communicate with Federal officials; and (8) any other problems which the commission considers relevant to carrying out its duties.

Kahn's periodic reports of the commission's deliberations will appear in the SAA Newsletter. The group's final report is due to be submitted to the President and to Congress by March 31, 1976.

THE PHILADELPHIA STORY: FIFTY ANNUAL MEETING EVENTS ON PLANNING BOARD FOR SAA '75

Each SAA annual meeting participant will be able to structure a professional and educational program particularly suited to his or her own special interest area by choosing from over fifty events which are now being planned for Philadelphia, September 30-October 3, 1975.

The Society's 1975 program committee met in Chicago January 29-30 under the leadership of Mary Lynn McCree of the University of Illinois at Chicago Circle. Sessions now being formulated include an elaborate series of practical workshops as well as panels and formal papers addressing advanced professional concerns. The city's impressive variety of archival facilities will be utilized for tours, committee meetings and workshop sessions. Other functions will be scheduled in historic buildings. Special interest walking tours are being designed. The convenient downtown location of meeting headquarters, the Sheraton Hotel, permits optimum use of the city's rich resources.

SAA ANNUAL MEETING EXPENSES: SURVEY REVEALS WHO PAYS

A random sample of SAA members provided the executive director's office with the following data regarding how their trips to the 1974 annual meeting in Toronto were financed. Of 42 respondents: 19 (45%) reported their institutions covered 80-100% of their expenses, 10 (24%) reported their institution picked up between 50-80% of the tab, 5 (12%) reported receiving institutional funding for 10-50% of their expenses, while 8 (19%) reported that they received no institutional support at all.

That over two-thirds of the sample received funding for the largest portion of their annual meeting expenses indicates administrators are generally appreciative of the value of the annual meeting experience.

Fees for registration and transportation were expense items most often covered for those who received partial support. In a few cases institutions covered a portion (2/3 most often) of total expenses.
