Fellows and Award Winners Recognized

The winners of SAA awards and two new Fellows of the Society were honored at the SAA awards banquet in Boston on October 21.

The Society's new Fellows, selected by the Professional Standards Committee chaired by Ruth Helmuth, are Lynn A. Bonfield and John Fleckner. Bonfield, Bonfield Archival Consultants, was cited for her archival work at such institutions as Harvard, the Schlesinger Library, and the California Historical Society, her activities as a member of SAA's Council, her involvement with ACT and women's history groups, and her role as a founder of the Society of California Archivists.

Fleckner, State Historical Society of Wisconsin, was honored for a wide-range of activities within the archival profession. He is the author of the SAA basic manual on surveys, one of the five original volumes in the Basic Manual Series. He was the first archivist to serve as a program officer with the Research Resources Program at the National Endowment for the Humanities and is currently participating as an Instructor for a series of Tribal Archives Conferences sponsored by the Native American Archives Project.

The Illinois State Archives received the 1982 Distinguished Service Award, presented to an archival institution or organization which has given outstanding service to the public and has made an exemplary contribution to the archival profession. John Daly, Director of the Archives, accepted the award.

The Waldo Gifford Leland Prize, awarded to an outstanding published work in the archival field, went to Edward E. Hill for his Guide to Records in the Rational Archives Relating to American Indians. The Philip M. Hamer Award for outstanding work by an editor of a documentary publication, was shared by Mary Dix, Papers of Jefferson Davis, and Sharon Ritenour, Papers of George C. Marshall.

Two Colonial Dames Scholarships to the Modern Archives Institute at the National Archives were awarded in 1982. They went to Bruce Laverty, Historical Society of Pennsylvania, and Denise Bernard Gluck, Congregation Shearith Israel. The Sister M. Claude Lane Award, established by the Society of Southwest Archivists for exceptional work in the area of religious archives, went to Barbara Smith for her work with Russian Orthodox Church records in Alaska.

1982 Salary Survey Results

In the spring of 1982, SAA distributed almost 4,000 copies of a survey instrument to its members and to members of nine regional archival associations in the United States. 1,725 questionnaires were returned, of which 1,717 contained data which could be analyzed. The survey, the largest ever conducted of the archival profession in the United States, was directed by David Bearman, who is preparing an article for the American Archivist with a more comprehensive report of the findings. Respondents worked in all fifty states, the District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico.

This year's survey was broader in scope than a similar one conducted by SAA in 1979. Of the respondents, 73.5% were members of SAA and 63% were members of regional organizations (compared with 79% SAA and 81% regional in 1979). 82% of the respondents were employed fulltime, 13% were employed part time, and 1.5% were unemployed.

According to Bearman, the typical archivist responding to the survey was a middle-aged, white female, with a master's degree and archival training provided by a professional workshop, who is employed full time and has 4-15 years of archival experience and works in an organizational unit called an archives with fewer than 3 employees. This typical archivist earns a salary of just over $21,400. The average salary compiled in 1979 was $17,136.

Compared to 1979, increasing numbers of women are employed in the profession; three years ago, they accounted for 51.5% of respondents, while today they comprise 54%. Despite an increase over 1979 in the number of blacks (29, up from 17), racial and ethnic minorities still account for less than 3% of the respondents. Minority archivists earn slightly more than their white colleagues, but the difference was not statistically significant. By contrast, women earn, on the average, only 80% of the income earned by men.

While the profession is still young, it has aged substantially since the 1979 survey. Over half the respondents are still under 40, but the percentage has fallen from 60% in 1979 to 52% today. Only 30% are over 50, but only 22% were in that bracket in 1979. Over 60% of the respondents report fewer than seven years of archival experience and barely 10% have been in the profession for over 15 years. While 14% of males have worked in the profession for more than 15 years, only 7.7% of the females have been archivists that long.

The chart below shows selected comparative data from the 1979 and 1982 surveys. Figures indicate salaries of respondents working full time, but do not include consulting income. Since persons who contribute their services were not included in this table, the number of religious archivists responding to the overall survey is greatly understated. Over 200 persons reported working for a religious institution and almost 3/4 of that number contributed their services.

Looking Back at Boston

A record number of archivists gathered in Boston October 19-22 for SAA’s 46th annual meeting. Nearly 1,100 people from across the United States and Canada and from as far away as Copenhagen, London, and Beijing, attended the meeting. In a time when travel budgets are shrinking and attendance at some professional meetings is declining, the attendance at SAA’s 1982 meeting is a tribute to the work of the Program and Local Arrangements Committees and the great city of Boston.

The week began with four pre-conference workshops—on conservation, micrographics, archival fundamentals, and oral history—each of which was filled to capacity. On Monday, many people attended meetings of standing committees and task forces, while others joined tours of the Northeast Document Conservation Center and the historic sites of Boston. The climax of the day was dinner and a tour of the John F. Kennedy Library. Over 400 archivists attended, dining in the beautiful pavilion overlooking Boston’s harbor.

On Tuesday, the Society’s Professional Affinity Groups met to conduct their business. A list of PAG, standing committee, and task force chairs is included in the Leadership List on page 5 of this Newsletter. Later Tuesday afternoon, SAA President Edward Weldon delivered his presidential address, “Archives and the Challenges of Change,” before a crowd of nearly 600 in historic Faneuil Hall.

On Wednesday, sessions began in earnest. Later that day, the annual business meeting convened and action was taken on three issues. The membership approved a constitutional amendment to shorten Council terms to three years and to increase the size of Council from eight to nine members. The membership also approved a resolution urging the United States and Soviet Union to adopt an agreement for the cessation of testing and production of all nuclear armaments. A third resolution, calling on the government of Israel to preserve intact the records of the P.L.O. Research Center which were removed by Israel from West Beirut in late September, was referred to SAA’s International Archival Affairs Committee for further study.

Later Wednesday evening, 25 of 28 participants in SAA’s 1982 Archives Study Tour to China, plus five visiting Chinese archivists and many interested meeting participants watched a slide presentation on the trip and participated in a question-and-answer session.

SAA awards were presented at a banquet on Thursday evening and the meeting closed on Friday with a luncheon at which Incoming President J. Frank Cook outlined what he hopes the Society can accomplish in the year ahead. 1983 Program Committee chair Linda Henry and Marion Matters, a member of the 1983 Local Arrangements Committee, offered a look ahead at next year’s meeting in Minnesota. And SAA staff member Joyce Gianatasio was recognized for her work as Annual Meeting Director.

The 1982 Program Committee was chaired by Larry J. Hackman, New York State Archives. Bruce Dearstyme, also of the New York State Archives, served as deputy chair. Program Committee members were Francis X. Blouin, Jr., Lawrence Dowler, Max J. Evans, M. Liisa Fagerlund, David B. Gracy II, Linda Henry, Linda M. Matthews, Helen W. Slotkin, and Victoria Irons Walch.

James M. O’Toole, Archdiocese of Boston, chaired the 1982 Local Arrangements Committee, whose members included Mark J. Duffy, Edward Galvin, Harley P. Holden, William A. Koelsch, Elizabeth Mock, Eva S. Moseley, Mary Eleanor Murphy, Andrew Raymond, Helen W. Slotkin, Megan Sniffin-Marinoff, Zephorene L. Stickney, and Albert H. Whitaker, Jr.
Continuing Education from SAA

Workshop on the Administration of Photographic Collections This workshop, covering all aspects of administering collections of still photographs, will be held December 1-3, 1982, in Norman, Oklahoma. The three-day workshop will address such topics as the historical development of photography, identification of photographic media, appraisal and collecting policies, arrangement and description, legal issues (including copyright), and proper storage and handling. The use of photographs in research, exhibition, and publication will also be discussed. The workshop will be conducted on an introductory level and is open to individuals currently working with photographic collections. The workshop is part of SAA's NEH-funded Basic Archival Conservation Program, and is being offered with the cooperation of the University of Oklahoma Libraries and the Oklahoma Chapter of the Western Conservation Congress. Enrollment is limited; tuition is $50. For further information, contact Mary Lynn Ritzenthaler at SAA headquarters.

Management for Archivists This two-day seminar, scheduled for February 10-11, 1983, in Los Angeles, will offer archival administrators the opportunity to explore basic management principles and their application in an archival setting. In addition to the traditional lecture format, case studies will be used to analyze the complexity of archival management. Major theme areas to be addressed will include planning, human resources management, communications, budgeting, financial management, and strategy and tactics for archival administrators. The seminar will be led by Mary Lynn McCree and Ann Morgan Campbell. Enrollment is limited; tuition is $75. To apply, contact Toni Pedroza at SAA headquarters.

Business Archives: The Basics and Beyond SAA will present its sixth workshop for business archivists April 25-29, 1983, in Dearborn, Michigan. The 4½-day workshop will be divided into two parts: the first three days will cover basic archival procedures from a business archives perspective. Douglas Bakken, Henry Ford Museum, Archives and Research Library, and Philip Mooney, Coca-Cola Co., will serve as instructors. The remaining 1½ days will feature discussions of four selected topics of special interest to business archivists, including photographs and records management, with other topics to be announced later. To receive a complete workshop brochure, contact Deborah Risteen at SAA headquarters.

Conservation Consultant Service

Consultants will be available through June, 1983, to assist archival institutions in evaluating their conservation needs, physical plant, and handling and storage procedures with an eye toward establishing sound programs to enhance the useful life of collections. Conservation programs based upon the principles of preventive maintenance and proper storage and handling will be stressed. Institutions will be assisted in evaluating treatment needs of collections and determining basic procedures which can be safely undertaken in-house and work which should be sent to a conservation lab. The site visit followed by a written report will provide institutions with a blueprint for developing programs of conservation action. The consultant service is offered through SAA's Basic Archival Conservation Program with funding from the National Endowment for the Humanities. For an application or further information, contact Mary Lynn Ritzenthaler at SAA headquarters.

Tribal Archives Conferences

The following Tribal Archives Conferences have been scheduled as part of the NEH-funded Native American Archives Project:

Basic Manual Series II goes beyond the basic archival functions discussed in Series I to illustrate the diversity of archival work. These five manuals offer practical explanations, examples, and illustrations that will help archivists involve the public in the activities of the archives, improve access to their collections through computerization and reproduction, and develop basic knowledge of the special needs of a map or architectural records collection.

- Archives & Manuscripts: An Introduction to Automated Access, by H. Thomas Hickerson. (1981) 60 pp., paper. $5 members, $7 others. 3008
- Archives & Manuscripts: Maps and Architectural Drawings, by Ralph E. Ehrenberg. (1982) 64 pp., paper. $5 members, $7 others. 3009
- Archives & Manuscripts: Public Programs, by Ann E. Pederson and Gail Farr Casterline. (1982) 96 pp., paper. $5 members, $7 others. 3010

Series II, set of 5 manuals: $20 members, $30 others. 3012

Sample Forms

- The Archival Forms Manual, prepared by SAA's Forms Manual Task Force, contains over 100 forms from all types of archival repositories. The forms are arranged into five major categories: appraisal and disposition, accessioning, arrangement and description, use, and specialized forms. Each category begins with a narrative introduction and short bibliography and is then broken down into subcategories by the specific functions of the forms. A bibliography of archival manuals is also included. (1982) 148pp., paper. $7 members, $10 others. 1015

- Inventories and Registers: a Handbook of Techniques and Examples distills the essence of current practice in North American archival repositories. Sample forms are included. (1976) 36 pp., paper. $4 members, $5 others. 1017

- Records Retention and Disposition Schedules includes forms used in various state archival and records management programs. (1977) 30 pp., paper. $4 members, $5 others. 1023

Classics

- The Management of Archives, by T. R. Schellenberg, is the work of one of America's archival pioneers in arrangement principles and descriptive techniques. Chapters devoted to cartographic and pictorial records are included. An important addition to every archivist's library. (1965) 383 pp., hardcover. $25 members, $30 others. 5001

- Modern Archives: Principles and Techniques, by T. R. Schellenberg, outlines tested and proved plans and procedures for the adequate management of public records in all areas of federal, state, and local government. (1956) 248 pp., paper. $8.50 members, $9.50 others. 5002

- Norton on Archives: The Writings of Margaret Cross Norton, edited by Thornton W. Mitchell, has been termed "the first American manual for archives administration." One archivist wrote: "Norton is BASIC! Archivists everywhere are indebted to Thornton W. Mitchell for skillfully editing and bringing together these articles and giving all the younger members of the profession the full benefit of her contributions to archival theory and practice." (1975) 288 pp., paper. $7 members, $10 others. 1021

* New!
Specialized Interests

Archivists and Machine-Readable Records, edited by Carolyn Geda, Eric W. Austin, and Francis X. Blouin, Jr., contains the proceedings of a 1979 conference on archival management of machine-readable records. Papers address the following topic areas: research opportunities of machine-readable records; archival programs for machine-readable records; management and dissemination of machine-readable data for social research; developments in computer technology; and confidentiality and privacy. (1980) 248 pp., paper. $8 members, $11 others. 1004

Audiovisuals for Archivists, compiled and annotated by Timothy L. Ericson, is a listing of 50 audiovisual programs for, about, and/or by archives and archivists. Each citation includes information on type of program, length, equipment required, purchase price, cost and terms of loan, ordering address, and a brief description of the program. (1982) 8 pp., individual copies $2 to members and others. Quantity discount if ordered in multiples of 25: $7 for 25 copies, $14 for 50, etc. 1028

Basic Archival Workshops: A Handbook for the Workshop Organizer, by Thomas C. Pardo, is designed for archival organizations and institutions that are considering conducting basic archival workshops. It covers all aspects of an archival workshop from needs assessment and scheduling through development of curricular materials and workshop evaluations. (1982) 72 pp., paper. $8 members, $11 others. 1028

Perspectives

A new feature, called "Perspectives," will be inaugurated in the January, 1983, SAA Newsletter. "Perspectives" will contain letters of professional interest to SAA members. (Letters commenting on articles published in the American Archivist will continue to be published in the journal's "Forum" section.)

The editorial guidelines for "Perspectives" follow:

Letters for "Perspectives" should not exceed 250 words and should be signed. Letters must be received by the first of the month preceding the month in which a Newsletter is published (December 1 for the January issue). Letters received after the first of the month will be held for possible publication in a subsequent issue.

The Newsletter editor will solicit responses (to appear in the same issue) to letters that seem to call for them. It may not be possible to print all letters received. The Editorial Board may be called upon to arbitrate occasionally and to make decisions about the pertinence and/or appropriateness of a particular letter.

Letters for "Perspectives" should be sent to Deborah Risteen, SAA, 330 S. Wells, Suite 810, Chicago, IL 60606.

Minneapolis Hosts 1983 SAA Meeting

SAA's 47th annual meeting will take place amid the beautiful lakes and forests of Minnesota, October 5-8, 1983. Both the 1983 Program Committee, chaired by Linda Henry, and the 1983 Local Arrangements Committee, chaired by James Fogerty, are hard at work planning for the meeting. The program will include a wide range of sessions and workshops designed to appeal to all interests. During the week, meeting participants will have the opportunity to visit the Minnesota Historical Society, the Immigration History Research Center, the Social Welfare History Archives, and other repositories in the Twin Cities.

The Local Arrangements Committee will give meeting participants the chance to see many of the historically significant sites in and around Minneapolis/St. Paul. And SAA President J. Frank Cook, an enthusiastic rail traveler, has arranged a train trip that will take meeting participants from Chicago to Minneapolis, through some of the Midwest's most beautiful countryside, on the Monday before the meeting. Persons interested in more details on the train trip should contact Cook at University Archives, B134 Memorial Library, University of Wisconsin-Madison, Madison, WI 53706.

For other information on the Minnesota meeting, contact SAA headquarters.
